Temporary energy surcharge

Dear Sir or Madam,

The year 2022 has so far been characterized by enormous uncertainty and high volatility in the energy and raw materials market. The rise in the prices of fuel, natural gas and electricity increased again rapidly in the third quarter. This has a major impact on our production and logistics costs. At the same time, we are experiencing that a large number of our suppliers are charging separate energy cost surcharges in addition to the announced price increases.

Therefore, we are confronted with strong cost increases. For the fourth quarter, too, we expect great uncertainty and continued high prices for electricity and gas.

These circumstances force us to pass on our costs to our customers via a temporary energy surcharge of 5.2%. This adjustment applies to all deliveries from November 1st, 2022 from all Lohmann sites.

We will review the energy surcharge on a quarterly basis and will adjust it if market developments permit. At the same time, we are working internally to control cost increases in the best possible way through efficiency measures. We thank you for your understanding and are of course happy to answer any questions you may have.

Best regards,

LOHMANN GmbH & Co. KG
